

As support for our team, we are looking for two

RESEARCH ASSISTANTS (Stud. Hilfskraft), 20–40h/month

The Chair of Political Economy, held by Prof. Dr. Nora Szech, is part of the Institute of Economics (ECON). Our main research topics are morals and markets, ethical consumption, diversity, and sustainability. We publish on the highest research level, but our research is also featured in the media, e.g., on Bloomberg, Forbes, Huffington Post, ZEIT, SZ, FAZ... We now want to expand our communication with society. Please see <http://polit.econ.kit.edu> for further information.

You will provide support in communicating with society:

- Support of our homepage
- Support of blogs
- Support of social media (e.g. Instagram)
- Creating presentations
- Various other tasks (e.g., administrative)

Your profile:

- Very good skills in visual communication
- Very good skills in social media communication
- Interest in our research
- Reliability and team spirit
- Good English and German skills, other language skills are also welcome

We offer an opportunity to actively engage in our research communication and experience diverse research methods in various current projects at the Chair of Political Economy, directly at the research frontier. We are a very diverse team with lots of opportunity for interdisciplinary interaction.

Flexible starting date

Working Time: 20-40 hours a month

Please apply with your CV and a transcript of records (Abitur/university entrance qualification and grades from your university studies) to Sibille Hackel (polit@econ.kit.edu) and Dr. Hannes Rau (hannes.rau@kit.edu).

We are looking forward to receiving your application!
